September 11th 1869

I am so glad when you receive this letter I think you will with some surprise I am your friend, & I think I am your friend up from Manchester and explaining to yourself "What the D- (is she at; with in you may say in my thing she that you know, but the fact is I have your whole kindness and therefore feel more at my own apology to you for apartenance than the any one else - After this long prospect I must tell you that I am rather glad for Henry and want to know whether it would be possible for you to bring for me some way in about £ 510 till the month of April next when I will pay the whole in £ 250 in April and the same in July - After the worry in how hard with Mr B. I am I do not like apology to have used in the my letter some could perhaps do it but then I know they are poor and I was with myself of Henry without repaying it - How can you forgive me? and was if you would do it with you not with me? If more I should pay you the best gratitude - You are now told my mother and I have your kindness and she is in an other matter and I feel that I must write with an apology - I am glad at the D. B. she seems content to live and to pass her days very well and she will come together again - The month from Weymouth are much the same; I am not satisfied as long as this struggle will not go away - And if you do forgive my unpleasant letter she is in very good at any for you and is in the best of your very kind and Faithful friend
