July 19th

Received 14 July 1811.

My Dear Sir (C) In looking over my papers this evening my eyes were caught by the receipt of Mr Gaskin for the 25th which I had you last August, but then you I well remember 3. 2. 6[?] mentioning of the subject which I am in your debt for; I really meant to be honest but the dreadful driving and weathering I have undergone since that I had the happiness of seeing you has wholly occupied my thoughts and even why explain this apparent neglect — I show you I am right I believe the papers for your Quarter Subscription — I am sure you would have been that for your anxiety which I believe has not decreased — but when I see how long we are then to be kind I am sure I am sure I am then afflicted; the sleep of itself is dreadful enough but when we have such and troubles the tenderness & affection which brought it in it however up my bed — I suppose you often think of me & yours; in times when you have my mind I do not say I am I am I am I am I am I am I am I am in you that I may have that pleasure at least in that mind in the narrow time surely you will not doubt of the truth of my subsiding myself. Your sincere & devoted

Friend
 M. Gaskin
