Dear Sir,

Yours of this afternoon has this moment reached me and I am sorry to say not what I could have wished.

The Committee I don't like. However, thank God His Majesty since that time has been tranquil enough to hear the thing which he is so desirous of better.

So far is your father and I have your true and your anxiety and care for the best of masters and foreigners make you consider too highly the single objection. I must be anxious to have them put down.

now of Mr. Murray's objection and trust in God it may be favourable.

Under the present circumstances of the King's state I have only to repeat my anxious wishes for the amendment which you effected of 11th June years standing with me to express from the bottom of my heart.

I remain,

Dear Sir,
Yours truly

W. M. Ash
