

Hered. Princess of Brunswick

51978 - 9

Sir

I reciev'd your letter which made me very happy, & indeed the reception I met with in your dominions was vastly pleasing to me as it could be owing to nothing but their duty & affections to your Majesty.

Its impossible to keep one's countenance at the odd figures & manners of these people, as for instance, the brother in law of Barg holds his clyap between his legs, & a lady to day ~~but it while she put her fan~~ while she dined in the same place, the Prince is very good for tho' he dont laugh he is not angry with me, the roads are not so bad as they are thought in England, but I am no judge for I sleep the best part of the way & Lady Susan reads the operas as Trilator only with this difference that they are given her by the Hereditary pray dont let this folly of Rheden hurt him in your goodnes for him, for indeed he is very diligent & has done every thing as you order'd except making us go through Cell, which the Regence would have, P.E. received us, but I think he looks very ill, every thing here surpasp's our expectations, there is but one inconvenience I have found in travelling which is the Stones, but here we have Chimneys & for my Court they please me different way, me. grande Maitrepe is a very amiable woman, for le grand Maitre he is a very good carrier & leads me with great care, for the maids of Honor one is cleave & deformed, the other is good & insipid, these are the carecters as far as I know them. there is great preparations making at Bruswick & Jam to be extrêmement faité,

Sa
 yo
 &
 huc

Hered. Princess of Brunswick

I am Sir 51979

your Majesty's most dutiful Subject & Sister
Augusta.

Lunebourg the 19 of Feb. [1764]

him
he is as
ugh
pe
ll,
ations
bound
re we please
be nd
de
Honor
is good
as far
pam fe

Duchess of Brunswick
19th February