My dearest Brother

This morning the Duke of Portland has wrote to me, acquaint me with your having granted me a pension, for which I must thank in the most affectionate terms, my heart feels your kindness more than words can express. I trust that you know the extent of my gratitude & attachment, or I should be very unhappy indeed. I have bought Lord Chesterfield House & paid it which is very comfortable. in ten days I shall be in possession of it, & hope to give you a dinner of all the German dishes that you like, send me your Bill of fare that its to your taste being ever by affection & duty bound, my dearest brother

your most dutiful humble servant & Subject
