Dear Brother,

I went Friday to dinner at Windsor, and stayed there Saturday and returned here in the evening. I was very well, received by the King: he conversed ~~me~~ with me very much. He appears

-ed in good humour: immediately after dinner fell asleep both days and there the family left him: I think he looks full and bloated: he has lost his voice and complains he is always hot and burning: the Queen certainly looks full: however every thing goes on quietly and every body seems pleas-ed: so stands the family to the last of my judgment I have not yet been in town: therefore I have not yet been able to see what is going on:

Yours sincerely,

J. J. Ash
