My Dearest William

How many thanks am I to return to you for having been so kind as to write to me again, and for sending me such pretty things, you cannot think how happy you make me by so many proofs of your affection to me. I hope that I shall always deserve it and that the more we advance in years the more united we shall be.

Last Night we went to the Play M^{rs} Siddons acted I was very much amused. The farce being a Harlequin one made me laugh very much. I wish that you could have been there, for I am sure that you would have been pleased. I am glad to hear that you have an Opera at Hanover as I do not doubt that it entertains you.

I was pleased and surpris'd to find that you are already so much advanced in learning German for by your letter to the Queen you must have made great progress in that Language.

My Dear William Pray do me the favour to accept of a Pencil that I send you by the Messenger and pray when you use it think of me.

Adieu Dear Brother
I remain

Your ever affectionate
Sister and Friend

Charlotte
