Copy of the late King's answer to Monsi^r Capello in 1745

I am very much oblig'd to the Most Serene Republic of Venice for the Assurances They give me of their Friendship; I shall upon all occasions endeavour to make suitable returns by giving the Republic proofs of my Affection and Esteem, and by cultivating the Union and Good correspondence which subsists so happily between us. The Choice the Republic has made of You for their Ambassador is particularly agreeable to me.

In Gen^l's handwriting
