Introduction

I have been induced to arrange in some Order, this Summary of the Situations I have held in The King's Family, between the Years 1781 & 1819, from the very abrupt manner in which I, with others of His Majesty's Old & Faithful Servants, were dismissed from the King's Family, by the decision of a Committee of The New Parliament of 1818, on a motion brought forward by Lord Castlereagh in the House of Commons Feb: 25th 1819, on the first Meeting of this New Parliament.

By the following Statements it will appear that I have owed both these Appointments to The King Himself and on his own Nomination.

They will mark throughout the long period of nearly Thirty Eight Years that continued & most flattering protection, which The King was pleased to extend towards me, fully & invariable, & where in many instances His gracious confidence called me to situations, whose Duties & Attentions were Independant of those which the honorable appointments I held through His favor in His Family, & near His Person, required or included.

These Statements will likewise shew, how little becoming Interest has been marked by Ministers, or by the Committee of The House of Commons, to Individual feelings, disturbed by such unexpected and severe privations, after faithful Services of very many Years — but what else could be expected from those, who now so unnecessarily & so disgracefully pressed a paltry saving to the State, screw'd out from the already reduced Establishment of their Afflicted Sovereigns, & which a former Parliament had allotted, not merely for his eventual comfort, but for the fair support of that dignity which all should have considered as sacred, & as inseperable from the State of a Beloved King —

Rob<sup>t</sup>. J. Greville.

His Majesty.

Of this honorable Situation in the King's Family, I was deprived on the Reduction which took place in The King's Windsor Establishment, by the decisions of the New Parliament of 1818, & by which a great reduction in it, was voted on its first Meeting, in 1819 —

My first Waiting in August 1781

The King's Excursion to the Nore.

I entered on my first Waiting on His Majesty as His Equerry on Wednesday August 1st at His Levee at St. James's Palace, & I went to Windsor on Friday August 3<sup>d</sup> for my regular Waiting of One Month. Among my other duties which occur'd in the course of this Month I had the honor of attending His Majesty when He paid a flattering Visit to His Fleet at the Nore, under the command of Admiral Barkley, immediately on their return from their Victory over the Dutch Fleet off the Dogger Bank.

The Attendants of His Household who His Majesty ordered to accompany Him on this Expedition, were - The Marquis of Lothian as Lord of His Bedchamber - Colonel Townsend as Grooms of His Bed chamber, and Myself as His Equerry in Waiting -

His Majesty proceeded from The Queen's House on Friday Aug<sup>r</sup> 17th to Greenwich Hospital, where on His arrival between 9 & 10 o'clock He was met by The Earl of Sandwich, First Lord of The Admiralty, and by Admiral Sir Hugh Palliser the Governour of Greenwich Hospital, & on which the Royal Standard was hoisted immediately on the King's arrival. —

His Majesty without loss of time

Embarked in His Barge from the Stairs, and he was rowed in it, to The Princess Augusta Yatcht, & on coming on board, The Royal Standard was hoisted at Her Main top Mast Head —

The Prince of Wales was rowed at the same time in His Barge from the Stairs to The William and Mary Yatcht, & His R. H. Standard was hoisted at the Main top Mast Head, on his coming on board —

The whole Fleet immediately got under weigh, with their Convoy; With a fair fresh breeze they proceeded down the River, & the first Night they came to an Anchor in Leigh Roads.

Expedition on Tuesday Aug<sup>r</sup> 21st 81 and landed at Erith, to which place, as the Tide & Wind baffled the Fleets, reaching Greenwich Hospital, the King's Carriages had been order'd from thence.

His Majesty's 1st Illness in the Year 1788.

During a long term of many years, having had the honor of continuing Sixteen Years & a Half, as Equerry, to The King, various & interesting occurrences have blended with my numerous Waitings, but none has been of a description so interesting & trying, as that which attached so principally to Me, during my Waiting in the latter end of the Year 1788, & which continued throughout the Months of January & of February of the Year 1789.

This period included, the beginning the progress and the termination of that severe & most afflicting Malady which now visited our Dear King, and for a long time involved Him in its dreadful consequences.

The first Symptoms of decided symptoms of this approaching Attack appeared during the last Days of October, & these continued to the first days of November 1788, after which these symptoms became positive in their character, and announced decided calamity—

On these most unpleasant Accounts reaching me, I lost no time in setting off from London to Windsor in order that every possible Aid within my reach might be called upon on the Spot. Those of my Brother Equerries, who at this time were like myself, not in actual waiting, hurried also to Windsor for the same purpose.

Our immediate Services were accepted, & We immediately shared painful duties; as during the time The King remained in the Queen's Lodge at Windsor, & which was until his Removal to Lew on the 29th of November 1758, His Equerries and His Pages had the entire very responsible charge of keeping Him to His Apartment, & They received their directions from time to time from The Physicians, & who desired that two of His Majesty's Pages should be constantly with Him in his Apartment - Two other of His Majesty's Pages were likewise ordered to be in constant waiting in the next rooms, and one of His Majesty's Equerries was directed to be constantly in the third room, that He might see that all was regularly & properly conducted, & who was to receive commands & occasional Messages from the Queen -

Lord Thurstow was at this time the Chancellor - He was the Queens Principal Adviser, & He was now in daily attendance -

The Equerries & Pages kept up their attendances according to the directions established, & their duties were kept up day & night, under regular reliefs -

On His Majesty's removal to New, other regulations & attendance took place - and then all the King's Equerries took their leave, except one Equerry in actual waiting, & now for the first time a Groom of His Majesty's Bedchamber was called upon for duty - His Waiting was fixed to be for two weeks, & at the expiration of this time, another Groom of His Majesty's Bedchamber relieved him, in this allotted waiting -

It was on me that the regular waiting as Equerry to His Majesty, devolved, after the King's removal from Windsor to New took place, and thus has it been my peculiar lot, to have witnessed the whole course of this His Majesty's most afflicting Illness, having come to Windsor, where I began immediate active duty, a very few days after His Majesty's serious attacks began, and I continued in waiting on His Person, under the same Roof, until His Physicians finally discontinued their attendance — After that I was Myself ultimately relieved by General Manners, on Wednesday March the 4th 1789, & who then succeeded Me at New as Equerry in Waiting.

I was one of the Three Persons to whom the important & anxious charge of the King's Person was confided, on His removal from the Queen's Lodge to New, on Saturday evening November the 29th 1788 —
The Hon<sup>ble</sup> General Starcourt, and Colonel Goldsworthy at this time His Majesty's first Equerry were the other two called on, upon this Occasion

In the Coach General Harcourt sat by The King - Colonel Goldsworthy sat opposite to General Harcourt, and I was opposite to The King -

The Carriage drove off from The Queen's Lodge, at a Quarter before Four o'Clock in the Evening, & attended by an Escort of Cavalry.

On entering Windsor Home Park, His Majesty with affecting expression said, "Why am I taken "from the Place I like best in the "World," and on seeing a few of the Inhabitants of Windsor near the Gates, who with their Hats off took a silent & parting look at their afflicted & Beloved King, the big Tear started from his Eye & inclining his Head towards Them He said, "These "Good People love me too well"—

The journey was performed without Interruption, or marked Incident—His Majesty talked much, & in good spirits on various unconnected subjects. —————

Friday December 5th 1788 Doctor Warren, The King's first Physician, brought Doctor Willis to Court —

He was immediately introduced to His Majesty, & began the duties of His Attendance — Mr. Charles Hawkins one of the King's Attendant Surgeons went into His Apartment with Doctor Willis, & he was present at this first interview —————

The appearance of Doctor Willis, (at this time a Stranger to Him) very much engaged His Majesty's Attention - but He received Him with composure, & immediately began to talk to Him.
He told Doctor Willis that He knew where He lived; He asked Him how many Patients He had then under his care - He then thus addressed Doctor Willis "Sir your dress & your appearance bespeak you of the Church Do you belong to it. — Doctor Willis replied, I did formerly, but of late I have attended chiefly to Physick; I am sorry for it answered the King with emotion & agitation, you have quitted a Profession I have always loved, & you have embraced one I most heartily detest. — Adieu your line of Life. —

After a long & tedious succession of distressing variations, attendant on the sad Malady with which The King had been afflicted, gleams of returning composure happily begun to appear, & these gradually led to ultimate confirmed recovery —

On Thursday Feb: <sup>1789</sup> 26th 1789 The Morning Bulletin from New announced that "His Majesty appeared to have an entire cessation from Illness."

On Friday Feb: <sup>1789</sup> 27th 1789 I received through Doctor Warren His Majesty's Commands, to give Notice to The Lord in Waiting at Saint James's that after this day The Bulletins from New would be discontinued —

On Wednesday March 2<sup>d</sup> 1789 I was relieved from my long waiting by Colonel Manners having been sixteen weeks in constant waiting as Equerry, with the Interruption only of an occasional absence of a very few days, on my own private business.

Weymouth.

At a subsequent period His Majesty made Weymouth a frequent Summer Residence attended by the Queen and the Princesses — They resided in Gloucester Lodge which was fitted up for them.

I was frequently in waiting on The King during his residence at Weymouth, with The Queen, & then I with others of the few attendants who were then ordered on Duty, was through

Some years after, The King purchased Gloucester Lodge. —

Their Majesties gracious condescension and kindness included in the Family, and We had the honor of dining every day at The King's Table, in Gloucester Lodge.

I always attended His Majesty in his Gides, & also when He went on board, on sailing excursions, & which were very frequent, and for which purpose a Small Squadron was stationed off Weymouth during the time that His Majesty & The Royal Family remained there; . to contribute to Their Majesties recreation, as well as to extend protection from the Bay, to Weymouth.

The first Frigate Attendant on His Majesty at Weymouth, was The Southampton Capt. Forbes, with Him was the former Sloop of War The Hon. Capt. Boyle &c.

In after periods Cap. Sir Harry

Their Majesties 1st excursion to Weymouth, was in the year 1789 - They were repeated, in the years 1794 - 1799 - 1800.
1801 - 1804 - 1805

Neale in H. M. Frigate the S<sup>t</sup> Tyrone. had the Command of the Squadron ordered in Attendance on His Majesty when at Weymouth, & then He had the honor of receiving His Majesty on board this fine Frigate, whenever He was pleas'd to take a short cruize in the Bay — Latterly Sir Harry Neale took the command of The Queen Charlotte & next of The Royal Sovereign Yachts the former of which reliev'd the S<sup>t</sup> Tyrone Frigate on the Weymouth duty — & in consequence Their Majesties afterwards continued their accustomed Sea excursions, in the above mentioned Yachts, & always with Sir Harry Neale.
The Royal Sovereign was the last Ship in which His Majesty sail'd when at Weymouth, & this was in the Y<sup>r</sup> 1765

Attendant Frigates &c were attached to the S.<sup>rs</sup> Fiorenzo, & the two Royal Yachts, when stationed in Weymouth Bay under the command of Capt.<sup>n</sup> Sir Harry Neale Bar.<sup>t</sup>. & among the Ships so stationed were, The Cambrian of 50 G. The Hon<sup>ble</sup> Capt.<sup>n</sup> Arthur Logge, The Anson of 50 Guns Capt.<sup>n</sup> Durham, & the Frigate The Chiffone Capt.<sup>n</sup> Adam, & The Diamond Capt.<sup>n</sup> Elphinstone, and part of these attended the Ship which carried the Royal Standard at her maintop Mast Head

The Situation of Weymouth, the Tides in its Bay, & neighbourhood, as well as a period of War, of course excited prudent attentions when Their Majesties went afloat —

Their moderate cruises were generally included. between S.<sup>t</sup> Aldans Head & the Bill of Portland varied as circumstances of Wind & Tide, permitted.

Weymouth, and on these Trips it was approached or fetched in varied directions, & either from more open Sea or by sailing nearer to the Chalk Cliffs by Lullworth, in passing which the look into Lullworth Cove is very interesting, opening Lullworth Castle gradually to full view.

The Tides in the Navigation from Weymouth, require experienced Attention.

The true & regular Tide is only between

Within the Bay they are irregular and various. — On approaching the Shambles

The currents are interrupted & rough, and the Tides become most rapid on the approach to The Bill of Portland.

On the West side of Portland Island there is nine hours flood, and on the East side of the Island there is nine hours Ebb.

The Shambles - An extended Bank of foul & broken ground lays East by South, four miles from the Bill of Portland, having on it at low water 2 fathom & a half of water.

Beyond the Shambles, is the Race of Portland - It rushes abt 2 miles from the rocky shore, off the Bill of Portland. It is a very agitated current, & which is most violent when the Winds are at S. East, or at

S. S. East * On the Bill of 33

* There is also a strong & shorter Race, off S. Alderhead, Head & very hollow waves on it, in Storms. In fact between the Bill of Portland & S. Alderhead strong currents much forego.

Portland are two Light Houses -

The lower one is principally useful in warning Ships, of the near dangers of Portland Race, and of the Shambles -

In favorable weather His Majesty's cruise was occasionally extended into the West Bay, beyond the Bill of Portland - Sometimes the sailing Squadron stretched farther out into the Channel, & particularly, when homeward or outward bound Fleets were passing - *

Portland Island -

The King is Lord of the Manor of this Island - During one of His Residences at Weymouth, He gratified the Loyal Islanders, by honoring them with a Visit as Lord of the Manor -

34 In the Year 1605 His Majesty sailing in the Royal Sovereign fell in with a very numerous West India Company's homeward bound Fleet bound from the West Indies to the Needles

He was received in all due & respectful form, and with as distinguished ceremony as their means afforded — The Queen, The Prince of Wales, & The Princesses were with The King on this Occasion After walking from Portland Castle to Chislet Town, Their Majesties, with Their Family, dined at the Portland Arms, in the small romantic Village of Chisleton — & their usual attendant at Grosvenor Lodge, were graciously invited to their Table at the Portland Arms — At this place, what was called an Ancient Beeve Pole was shown to His Majesty — & I had an opportunity of looking at this ancient curiosity — It is said to be of Saxon Origin; By it formerly the Bailiffs of this Island kept account of the Manor of Wood, Several feet long & fully engraved upon, in old figures and characters — dues & on which every Acre of Land belonging to the Manor was marked on the Heave Pole. — *

Rides —

His Majesty's Rides when at Weymouth were varied as much as its Situation permitted —

Among those most prefer'd were those to Upway famed for its excellent Spring — a very pleasant Village about four miles from Weymouth and to its neighbourhood —

Sometimes they extended beyond Upway to the steep Ascent of the Hill behind it, & thence to The Downs.

At others they were directed up Ridgeway Hill — Thence skirting to the great Antient Woods called Maiden Castle, & thence by Fordingle

<sup>30</sup> This Visit of Hunting on ~~the~~ <sup>the</sup> latter Ceremonial as Lord of the Manor of Southampton was in the Year 1684 —

Trails coming to Dorchester—

Maiden Castle is supposed to have been a Roman Work. It is oval in its form, of considerable extent, & very strongly entrenched. — It is believed to have been the Summer Station, the Castrum Estiva of their Garrison from the neighbouring Station at Dorchester.

Occasionally His Majesty varied his rides from Ridgeway Hill, crossing the Downs towards Bincombe, & thence edging towards the Wareham Road, returning by the Boiling Gock in the Parish of Preston, along the Sea Coast to Weymouth —

The Outlet likewise from Weymouth through Melcombe Regis gave occasional variety to His

Rides - Hence proceeding by Weymouth Castle to its near Sands, and at their further extremity, leaving the Portland Island Ferry House, extended the rides to Wyke Regis, Chichevil &c.

The various Camps consisting of Infantry, Cavalry, & Horse Artillery, which at different times were formed around Weymouth, gave frequent & interesting occupation to His Majesty, in his Rides -

At one of the Reviews of the Cavalry Two & Twenty Squadrons of heavy & of Light Cavalry, made a fine home charge across the Plain, in line, & which began near the great Western Road, <sup>on the night</sup> extended to the rear skirts of the Entrenchments of Maiden Castle on the left - The King, & with whom I

<sup>38</sup> In the year 1799 * German, Russian & German Horse Artillery formed part of the Camp - then was kept in front of this line, & not far from the Greys, & he fully participated in the animation of this rapid charge, <sup>in which he himself headed,</sup> & expressed his approbation at the correctness with which it had been performed —

These few Memorandums furnish a slight, tho' general sketch of those various occupations, which were usually connected with His Majesty's residence during His Summers Excursions to Weymouths —

My Election for the Borough of New Windsor —

In the Year 1796 I was returned Member for the Borough of New Windsor — This Event took place unexpectedly and in this Manner.

Being at this time in waiting on His Majesty at The Queen's Lodge at Windsor, I received His commands by His Page, to wait upon Him in his Apartment — When there His Majesty after a short general conversation asked Me "if I had any Wish to be in Parliament

To this question so suddenly imparted, I answered, that since I had ceased to be Member for Warwick, that I had never entertained a Wish to be again returned to Parliament — on this His Majesty was pleased to say, that if I still had any inclination He thought there was an opportunity for Me to be returned for Windsor at the ensuing General Election, as the Parties who had lately so strenuously opposed each other at the last Election, & where Sir Will<sup>m</sup> Grant had ultimately prevailed against Mr. Sherwood, seemd now desirous of avoiding renewed contest, & that as an Opening was now made by Sir W<sup>m</sup> Grants having acceptd the proffer'd representation of a County in Scotland, they appeared anxious for a nomination which might reconcile seperate Interests, by uniting it with that of Mr. Sherwood the late unsuccessful Candidate -

His Majesty was pleased to add, that it had reach'd his knowledge, that with a few other names Mine also had been mentioned as one, which would be agreeable to their choice, if so approved by His Majesty -

Being by no means anxious for a Seat in Parliament at this time, I felt unwilling to listen to the chances, which this proposition might eventually embrace but on H: M: being graciously pleased to observe, that such a measure might restore harmony in the Borough, & that He should wish it, I instantly answered, that from what I now heard, I too well knew what my duty and inclination towards His Majesty ought to be, for me to urge any further objection to the flattering proposal, & therefore I beg'd His Majesty would on this occasion, as well as on every other, command Me, & be assured of my most willing Obedience.

I then immediately came forward, by offering Myself as a Candidate, & afterwards obtained a welcome, & a successful reception on the Castle Interest — and, Mr Isherwood & myself were returned at the ensuing General Election as members for the Borough of New Windsor —

Ever the close of this Parliament I became subject to a new Election, by His Majesty's most gracious Appointment of me, as one of the Grooms of His Bed chamber, and I was flattered by an Unanimous Return.

Thus far all was smooth, and uninterrupted in the Borough of New Windsor, & throughout which harmony had been restored.

The General Election in the year 1702 again disturbed it.
At this time two new Candidates started, viz John Williams Esq; and Richard Ramsbottom Esq; — By both these I was perseveringly pressed, to join my Interests with theirs — This I decidedly declined, stating that I stood and had been uniformly supported by general Interest, & that I saw no reason why after having been twice elected through general favor, I should, on this Occasion join either of the present Candidates, who were now attempting their first chances in the Borough.

By this plain resolve I strictly & fairly abided, throughout the succeeding arduous contest, but it drew off many of my former supporters, & created Enemies where hitherto it had been my good fortune to have none

At the close of the Poll, John Williams Esq: & myself were returned.

A Petition against Mr Williams's return on alleged Bribery was instituted, and in which Petition, after much deliberation, among the Promoters, I was included.

The Committee of the House of Commons who tried the Merits of this Petition, declared Mr Williams Election void, & in the course of Evidence, many of Mr Jambsbottom's Voters were proved to have been equally implicated, so that Mr Jambsbottom himself was incap=acitated, and rendered ineligible.

Nearly the whole day was occupied by Mr Const & Mr Serjeant Lens (Mr Jambsbottom's Counsel) in endeavours to dislodge me, but finally baffled, Mr Serjeant Lens the Counsel who wound up, said He had nothing more to bring forward against Mr Greville, on which Mr Thomas Mills My Counsel briefly observed to the Committee, that He trusted they would strongly bring to their recollection, that no one point had been established against Mr Greville, by the diligent scrutiny which had taken place, and which Serjeant Lens had just closed

I maintained My Seat, but this Petition involved me in much additional trouble, & in a further addition of £500 to the general ex-pences of My Election —

I sat throughout this Parliament which began in the Year 1802 and on its close in the Year 1807, I retired from Parliament, & was succeeded by Edward Disbrowe Esq. Vice Chamberlain to Her Majesty, in the Borough of New Windsor. —————

I came forward on flattering invitation, to restore harmony among them, & in this I fortunately succeeded, until my constituents received dis-entions among themselves, and in which, some did not scruple to Entangle <sup>me</sup> & without provocation.

Resignation of My Appointment as Equerry to the King.

On my Marriage with Louisa Countess of Mansfield, (Countess in Her own Right) in the Year 1797 I tender'd My resignation to His Majesty of My Equerry ship, and His kind and gracious reception of My Intentions, added to the anxiety which I so naturally felt & so fully, on making such communication

His Majesty was pleased to say "that He was sorry to lose me, but that He hoped He should be enabled eer long to replace me in His Family as Groom of His Bedchamber," and He kindly added, "that He would never nominate to a future Vacancy in it, untill He had first made the offer to Me —"

Such marked condescensions and kindness towards me seem to admit of no greater extent, but eer I left Windsor, His Majesty increased my deep Obligations by adding to them an instance of his very flattering confidence in Me —

When riding with Him in the Home Park, adjoining Windsor Castle, His Majesty resumed the subject of my resignation, & in a very kind manner He was pleased to say that "He should miss Me." He then observed, that the selection of an Equerry was not of indifferent consideration to Him as its duties necessarily imposed much, & close attendance upon Himself, & whose habits & correctness must be confirmed, in order to recommend an Equerry to a situation of confidence so near his Person in his retired occupations —

Having imparted thus much, His Majesty said, You well know what these duties are, & what they ought to be. Do you know of any, who you think would suit me as your Successor — After a short pause, on a sudden & very important question, I replied, that if I entertained doubt, I ought to hesitate, & be silent, but I confessed that I thought I might presume to give a hint with confidence, encouraged as I was by long experience in forming a choice. His Majesty on this commanded Me to proceed, on which I said, that there was one Person for whose amiable & correct character I could most safely answer, & that the Person I now alluded to was

Major (now General) Cattwright, with whom I once served in His Majesty's 10th Regiment of Dragoons, & who had ever since, been my invariable, & my most confidential Friend through life — On hearing his Name His Majesty eagerly observed, that He thought I should name Him, & He kindly added, "I have had Him in my Eye."

The King without delay was pleased to appoint My Friend who has continued to this time 1820, the safe & faithful Equerry to our Dear King, & who has by his correct conduct, & amiable manners, secured the lasting respect of all Branches of the Royal Family, as well as that of His very many Friends & acquaintance.

Marriage of The Prince of Wales in the Year 1795 to Caroline Amelia Elizabeth Daughter of The Duke of Brunswick.

---

Immediately preceding this Event I received from the King, as well as from His Royal Highness The Prince of Wales the honor of being nominated " Gentleman of Honor " to His Royal Highness on this occasion Copy of a Letter from His Royal Highness The Prince of Wales to me -
" Dear Sir,

" His Majesty's commands are " in consequence of a Letter He has received " from Lord Malmsbury that the Attendants " & Carriages should be ready to set off for " Greenwich tomorrow Morning at Eleven "o'clock precisely -

" His Majesty thinks that the " Horses had better rest for an hour or " thereabouts, so as to contrive that The " Princess should arrive at S<sup>r</sup> James's " at three o'clock -

" You will be so good My Dear " Sir to give all the necessary Orders " upon this Occasion "

" I am

" Dear Sir

" Very Sincerely Yours

Queen's House Signed

I punctually obey'd the commands convey'd to me by the above Letter to me from H. R. H. The Prince of Wales & I arrived at Greenwich Hospital, with His Majesty's Carriages & with the Attendants in full equipage home the next Morning.

On my arrival at Greenwich I was informed that a baffling Tide would prevent the arrival of Princess Caroline that day, as was expected & intended - & shortly after I received a Letter from Commodore Payne, & of which the following is a Copy -

My Dear Sir

The numerous dispatches that have been issued from hence in the course of this day will apprize His Majesty accurately of our Situation - In case they should not reach you I have to add that as the Wind now is which you know to be an inconstant Element to depend upon, I hope to be at Greenwich a little after noon - I shall leave this place at 8 o'clock on the turn of Tide, & I have the best founded hopes of being at Greenwich about one o'clock at farthest -

I am, with great regards Your Sincere & Faithful Humble Servant

5th April - 8 P.M. Signed - W<sup>m</sup> Payne. -

The Honble

Rob<sup>t</sup>. F. Greville.

Tho' Thus accurately acquainted with the existing circumstances of the unavoidable delay, I decided not to take any Steps Myself in consequence, fully trusting to His Majesty's invariable punctuality, in communicating his own commands in his own Arrangements

In due time in the course of this day I received a Letter from The King and of which the following is a Copy - at Queen's House April 4th 1795

" On returning from Kew I " have received the Letter from Lord " Malmesbury brought by Major Wilslop " acquainting me that The Princess " Caroline, will not embark on board " the yacht until tomorrow morning " and proceed to Greenwich, I therefore " acquaint Mr Greville, that he may " bring back the Ladies to Town, & return " with them tomorrow in time to receive " The Princess at Greenwich " signed

" George R. "

On the morrow of the 5th of April 1795, in obedience to His Majesty's commands, I arrived at Greenwich Hospital at the appointed time with The Ladies in Attendance & with His Majesty's Carriages. —

In the course of the morning The Yacht, with The Princess Caroline and the rest of the Vessels under the command of Commodore Payne anchored of Greenwich — The Princess disembarked at the Stairs of Greenwich Hospital, & after taking some refreshments at the Governor's House.
Her Royal Highness attended by The Countess of Jersey, Lord Malmsbury and myself, entered the King's Carriage proceeded to London, & alighted at the Apartments prepared for Her in St. James's Palace, & followed by the rest of the Attendance in other Royal Carriages -

On the arrival of the Princess, I went to the Queen's House, where I had the honor of seeing His Majesty and making an immediate report to Him

The Prince of Wales paid an early Visit to Her Princess Caroline after her arrival at Saint James's Palace, where H.R.H. dined with a small selected Party, and to which first dinner, of Their Royal Highnesses I had the honor to be invited -

At the subsequent Marriage Ceremonial which very shortly after took place, I had the honor of attending H.R.H. the Prince of Wales to the Altar in the Chapel Royal at

J. James's

With this Ceremony my Duties as Gentleman of Honor to The Prince of Wales closed, & with Them, at this time my Appointment ceased likewise. —

On retiring from the Altar The Prince of Wales gave to The Earl of Harcourt Master of the Horse to the Queen, his Hat, with a rich diamond Button and Loop — & took Lord Harcourt's Hat from him in exchange —

The occasion of this Valuable present was never explained — His Lordship at this time was in Waiting on the Queen, as Her Master of the Horse —

Importation of Merino Sheep-

The Importation of Merino Spanish Sheep into this Country some years ago is well known to most, but on what occasion and under what particular Auspices is still known but to very few—

The Speculation originated in an accidental circumstance & it began under the King's protection and in the Manner—

One day when I had the honor of attending His Majesty as His Equerry after his ride from the Queen's House to New Walk to Richmond Gardens & He was attended by me alone—

Here while His Majesty was looking at his Wiltshire Flocks of Sheep, I recollect accurately the details of a flock of Spanish Sheep which had been imported into Saxony, where they prospered successfully & had extended great improvement to the flocks of that Country

These details I now mentioned to the King, & to whom they were new.
He was struck with the Account, & having paused upon it a little in fixed consideration, <sup>asked me</sup> His Majesty if some Spanish Sheep might not be procured & brought into this Country.
I readily replied that I thought they might, but that I was not prepared at once to decide, by what means, tho' I was well aware, that the success of the Experiment, would much depend on the Secrecy, with which Enquiries were made. — His Majesty then commanded me to give further consideration on the means most advisable & to report the result to Him, the next time He took his Ride. — Such opportunity I had a few days after, & on being asked by H. M.<sup>ty</sup> what progress I had made, I informed Him that I had seen Sir Joseph Banks and to whom I had in confidence imparted the late conversation I had had the honor of holding on the Subject of Spanish Sheep, and I reported how much Sir Joseph Banks had been on my having informed Him of H. M.<sup>ty</sup> Wishes respecting them, & that He had added, if his humble services could be thought at all useful, that His Majesty might command their utmost exertions. — The King instantly replied "Sir Joseph Banks is just the Man — tell Him "from me that I thank Him, & that his assistance

"will be most welcome,"

In consequence I took an early opportunity of waiting on Sir Joseph Banks, & to whom I communicated the gracious message I had received for him. He was in consequence honored with an immediate interview, at which the subject was fully talked over, & the speculation was instantly & carefully begun. In the progress every thing met with that success which judicious arrangements from the first so well encouraged, and by gradual means a sufficient number of prime Spanish Sheeps were imported for His Majesty, as to put all disappointment, as to the means, of obtaining the full operation of future experiment out of the question. Then & not till then the secret began to transpire, and not very long after the then Prime Minister in Spain (whose name I do not now recollect) sent a small flock of Spanish Sheep to His Majesty as a present as was thought at first, an Inquiry however was afterwards made from that quarter to know how the Flock was going on, & it was accompanied with this hint, that if H. M. should enquire what would be deemed an acceptable & return, that a Set of Horses would be very gratifying — A hint so plain, could not be so well overlooked, therefore a Set of Horses were selected from H. M.'s Stables and sent — *

His Majesty's Spanish Flock soon became numerous and anxious to extend throughout the Country a general benefit He directed that a Spanish Fam Flock should be reared, & from which He made many presents — At this time H. M. was pleased to give me some to distribute in Wales & from these I sent to my Friend Mr. Jones of Havod in Cardigan shire, & to Subsequently a large Spanish Flock was sent by the Spanish Government to the King — many died in the Passage The rest were deposited at New & Highmond Gardens Several Spanish Shepherds came with them

Lord Cawdor in Pembrokehire & to Mr. Morris of Plasement near Swansea — In North Wales I sent to Mr. Yorke of Eiddig in Flintshire & some I disposed of at Llangollen in Denbighshire for Mr. Edwards of Sharnberwin near that romantic Town to disperse in that neighbour-hood — Many inconveniences however occurred from H. M.'s giving Sheep, & for which the applications became numerous — One of the most frequent inconveniences complained of, that after the young Lambs were left many months before they were taken away — In consequence Sales were recommenced to H. M.'s & adopted lately at these the Sheep fetched enormous prices but those who bought dear were likely to look well after them — At the first Sale & which took place in the great field not far from the Pagoda & fronting the road from Richmond to How a Captain MacArthur bought freely and he had at this time a valuable & numerous flocks of Sheeps at Botany Bay—

Thus from an accidental conversation I had with the King in Richmond Gardens, this speculation about Spanish Sheeps, & which has been so actively maintained in this country & so widely extended originated in the first Instance & flourished as far as under H. M.'s protecting Influence.

Merino Society.

This Society for the Improvement & Extension of the Merino Breed of Sheeps throughout the Kingdom was established in the Year 1780 & of which at this time Sir Joseph Banks is President, & among a numerous List of Vice Presidents appears the Lord Vis. Castlereagh—

My Lord

March 29: 1801

I have this moment received Your Grace's most flattering Notification of His Majesty's gracious Appoint<sup>mt</sup> of Me as one of the Grooms of His Bed Chamber, an honor which I shall ever acknowledge with every expression of gratitude, & which lays me under much additional Obligation to my Royal Master & whose Kindness I have so long experienced.

I thank Your Grace for the obliging manner in which You have conveyed to me this Notification - & I will without fail do myself the honor of meeting You at St James's tomorrow at the time You have been pleased to appoint.

My Lord - Your Graces

(Entered at the Treasury)

Appointment to the Deputy Stangeworths of Richmond & New Bath 1800.

In the Y<sup>r</sup> 1800 Mr Leonard Smelt who at the

Dep<sup>y</sup> Ranger of Richmond New Park, died — The Account of his Death reached His Majesty at Weymouth, & on his return from his Morning Walk before breakfast on the Esplanade, & in which Walk Lord Chesterfield, Lord Falke, & myself & a few others had attended Him. I had scarce <sup>returned</sup> to my House in Gloucester Row, where Lady Mansfield & myself and our Family were, than I received a Command from the King to come to Gloucester Lodge — On being ushered into his Apartment He commu-icated to me the melancholy Accident he had just received of Mr. Smelt's death, & in whom he had lost a Person, much attached to Him, & directly afterwards He announced to me in the kindest manner his Intention of giving to me the Dep<sup>y</sup> Ranger ship of Richmond New Park. — I had scarce thanked Him in most grateful Terms for this fresh Mark of his continued Kindness & Confidence when He asked me, if the Appointment was not one of that description which would vacate my Seat at Windsor—I replied that so unexpectedly called upon I was unable to answer that question or which H. M. gave it an attentive consideration Himself.

The result confirmed Him in the Opinion that the Appointment would disturb my Seat—He then turned the subject in many ways in order that the advantage He had intended for me might be secured to me.—At length He eagerly told me that He had thought of an Expedient, "I will give the Dep<sup>t</sup> Rangership to Lady Mansfield—She will sign the Warrants, & you will do the Duties—In all this you & Lady M. will agree.—You have no country House, your Children will run about & thrive in Richmond Park—The situation will bring back Lady Mansfield to occupations which have interested Her—and I shall have you where I wish to have you"—With this most flattering Introduction we were placed in Richmond New Park & my Seat at Windsor was not disturbed—

Sometime afterwards His Majesty made an Alteration in the Management of His Parks, at Windsor & at Richmond, as likewise of his several Farms which had been for some years under the direction of Nath: Kent Esq: & who was now made Auditor of these & other concerns, & he retired from the direction of the Parks &c.

On this change His Majesty was pleased to confide to me the Management of Richmond New Parks, allotting the same Establishments in Labourers Open &c as Mr Kent had, & also the same quarterly payments from His Privy Purse for these, & for the several Works carried on in this Park. I received my directions from His Majesty only, & in obedience to these I acted entirely. My quarterly Accts were regularly given to be audited by Mr Kent.

In latter periods after His Majesty's illness had secluded Him from his usual occupations, all the works &c. connected with my Management in Richmond Park were continued under my sole directions, in that respect to any, & by strict attention only to such system as I had pursued hitherto under His Majesty's commands could I have reconciled so great a responsibility to My own satisfaction and this continued until The Countess of Mansfield resigned the Deputy Rangership of Richmond New Park to the Prince Regent -

I had no Salary whatever for this Superintendance during the several Years it was thus confided to me - or any perquisites whatever, but I felt myself well repaid by this flattering confidence & employment in this Part of which strictly speaking The King was His own Ranger -

When the settled continuance of His Majesty's afflicting Illness unhappily kept Him within the limits of Windsor Castle The Royal Parks among many other concerns came more immediately under the control of the Prince Regent, who began consider=able changes in Windsor Park -

The Countess of Mansfield's kind & respectful intentions towards the Prince Regent had for some time inclined Her Consider, that if from possible circumstances His Royal Highness had any wish to have Richmond Park at his free disposal - She ought not to be in his way.

In consequence in the Year 1819 Lady Mansfield wrote to The Earl of Liverpool authorizing him to make an offer from Her, of The Deputy Rangership of Richmond <sup>Park</sup> to His Royal Highness The Prince Regent, by Her resignation of that Appointment.

On this Designation the Prince Regent was pleas'd to grant a liberal compensation to Lady Mansfield, with the chances of Reversion to Mr. Shoult, I be the Survivor.

His Majesty's Second Illness.

The severe return of the King's Illness began in the year 1801 - During its continuance, He was attended by Dr. Simmons at the Queens House

On this occasion Her Majesty was pleas'd to name Gen<sup>l</sup>. Harcourt, A. D. C. & Sir Harry Keale & myself, being groom's of H. M. Bedchamber, to take alternate Waitings at the Queens House & which we did daily in our turns during the whole time of the continuance of this 2<sup>d</sup> Attack

The King recovered from this attack in the Spring of the same year - at this time Lord Eldon was Chancellor & He paid very regular Attendance at the Queen's House -

The Windsor Establishment

In a subsequent period when His Majesty's disorder, assumed a more settled turn and which then kept Him entirely to Windsor Castle, The King's Windsor Establishment was formed, and at this time (with other changes! Four Lords of His Bed Chamber and Four Grooms of His Bed Chamber were selected from his former full Establishment, and all His Majesty's Equeries were attached to this new Windsor Establishment — On its formation the Queen made the following selection from the Kings full Household Establishment & which now became thus reduced in numbers —

The Windsor Establishment.

The Earl of Winchelsea Groom of the Stole Lord John Thynne Vice Chamberlain Lords of the Bed Chamber

Lord Somerville L. Givens, L. Arden L. St. Johns

Grooms of the Bed Chamber

The Hon. Jas. J. Fulke Esquire

Hon. Admiral Sir Arthur Legge

Admiral Sir Harry Neale Baronet

Lieut. General Sir Henry Campbell

Equeries

Gen. Manners — Usher & Joint Equerry

Gen. Gwyn Gen. Gas. Th. Gen. Farthing

Gen. Sir Brent Spencer Gen. Wynyard

Received by an official Letter from the Earl of Winchelsea, the Groom of the Stole on the Windsor Establishment, the Notice, that the Queen had been graciously pleased to name me, as one of the Four Grooms of Her Majesty, selected for this Windsor Establishment

This flattering Appointment to the King's Windsor Establishment brings my long Services, in His Majesty's Family, & which began in the year 1781 to their close in the year 1819

During this Period of nearly 38 years I was attached to the duties of Equerry & afterwards to those of the Bedchamber to the King. Sixteen years & a half of which period I had the honor of attending His Majesty as one of His Equerres

Lastly the King fixed the periods of our separate Waitings, He himself & then He fixed mine for the months of January, February, & March, & which gave me the Hunting months during the roughest Season — and a large Establishment of prime Horses was prepared for the duties of such a waiting

I always entered it with four Hunters and two Hackneys, and generally there was full work enough for them all.

I had always two regular Grooms in my Service, & these were assisted by a Helper during my Waiting months —

My net Salary as Equerry was £53. odd Shillings paid every quarter.
The rest of my Salary was absorbed in various deductions Land Tax, Taxes, &c. all the expences of my appointment falling upon myself except the keep of such Horses as were for my use at Windsor, and for my waiting months only; no accum-ulation of fortune could be obtained from my Salary, but I was rich in the Kings continued kind protection & favor.

My Appointments of Esquery & of Groom of the Bedchamber owed entirely to the King, & to none else, and the whole long period of my being in H. M<sup>ty</sup> Family, was marked by those uninterrupted instances of continued confidence and kindness, which the King was pleased to extend to me, & by which I have been so much flattered in those honorable Situations, which through his favor I held so near His Person.

To mention the numerous instances of his acts of kindness to me, is unnecessary in this place, but there is one too marked to be now passed by me without some notice.

When His Majesty appointed me to His Bedchamber, He was pleased to say that tho' my new situation would not require that attendance at Windsor, which attached to me, as one of His Esqueries, yet He hoped He should not see the less of me there & He then kindly added "He collect that an "Apartment will always be ready for You at The Queen's Lodge, & I shall be happy to see You there, as usual, when, & as often as You please." — I need not add that I did not overlook this flattering condescension

I waived myself of it afterwards as long as I had the happiness of being retained in The King's Family.

Now I was removed from The King's Family will now be detailed in conclusion of this Summary Narrative —

---

Particular Incidents

which led to my removal from The King's Family

The Active & persevering Endeavors of Opposition to promote general Reductions in all directions had long been pursued and often maintained successfully to the great annoyance of Ministers —

In this general Runage The Windsor Establishment, was often more than slightly glanced at —

After The Queen's death, the Attack in this matter by Opposition, became more eager, & methodized & urged perhaps to this activity by motives distinct from the ostensible Object, held out, of necessary economy to the State.

At a meeting of the New Imperial Parliament which assembled on the 14th of January, 1819 The Reduction of The Windsor Establishment was brought forward to close attention, & it very soon became an eager topic for early discussion.

Ministers desirous of beginning on good terms with the new Parliament seem'd at this time more reconcil'd than hitherto to adopt the hint, tho' it had not originated in a friendly quarter, but which now appear'd to them to have excited such general interest as was not likely to be easily diverted from its course.

Accordingly on the 5th of February 1819 Lord Castlereagh brought forward in the House of Commons the subject of a proposed Reduction in the Windsor Establishment, & the following are among the reported items of his Speech on this motion. His Lordship observ'd, that with respect to the £100,000 hitherto annually allow'd for The King's Windsor Establishment, that it would in future be reduced to £50,000 annual Allowance, & that the saving would be carried to The Civil List.

He stated that on this point the most anxious and industrious Inquiries had been made & that Ministers in their deliberations had called in the Aid of Persons the best qualify'd to give an Opinion viz The Groom of the Stole and The Master of Household.

* On the subsequent Reduction these Officers The one The Groom of the Stole & the other The Master of Household were kept on the reduced Establishment. The former at a Salary of £2169. 6. 8. The other at a Salary of £1800. 0. 0. & all the other Officers of The King's Windsor Establishment were reduced.

"During the life of The Queen, His Lordship "observed, that every question of economy "resolved itself into a consideration, whether "a few of the State Servants should be removed "and by such an Interference on the part of "Parliament, a saving only of about £6000
"a year could have then been accomplished.

"His Lordship added, that He felt some "Explanation was due to the House, & to the "Country, why He was now prepared, to recommend "a Reduction, which He should have opposed "at an earlier period, and why The Windsor "Establishment should now be placed, in a "narrower basis than at the time when the "Regency was first under consideration, & "when Expectations, & perhaps to speak more "properly, hopes were indulged, that His "Majesty would be enabled at no very dis"tant period to resume the reins of Government

"He said He was ready to allow, that the "probability was even then strongly against "such a happy event, but the passage of a "series of years, during which no alleviation "had been felt, if it did not warrant despair, "at least justified the House, in pursuing "a different course.

"The Object in the first Instance "had been to take care, that should His Majesty "unfortunately awake from His affliction, He "might find Himself surrounded by those "Individuals, and by that State, to which

We had previously been accustomed *

The whole Subject was now open to the revision of Parliament, whose duty it became, to draw the line between what was due to public Economy and that sacred Veneration which the Inhabitants of the Empire could never cease to feel for the Person Character & Government of their Sovereign.

The Kings Ministers in viewing this subject had thought that they could not pursue a line most satisfactory to their own feelings, & to those of the Country than that which was pointed out by His Majestys personal habits & predilections. — These were evinced by his almost constant residence at Windsor, & the House was fully aware, probably that there existed certain Officers of the Household who had never been in attendance on His Majesty there — In applying therefore the principle of economy, Ministers had to propose such arrangements, as left standing such Individuals about His Person, as had long been in the habit of waiting upon Him.

The Act of 1812 had made it imperative on the Queen to maintain all the Offices, both at Windsor & London & in case of Vacancies

to fill them up — The question now how presented itself in a different point of View and it was therefore proposed to abolish the Offices of The Vice Chamberlain — The Master of The Robes — The Four Lords of The Bed Chamber and The Four Grooms of the Bed Chamber whose Salaries amounted to £5993. 5. Annua.

The Individuals who filled these Situations had never been in the habit of attending the King at Windsor ~~&c~~ and altho' their Services were no longer required, His Lordships had been commissioned by them to state, that altho' deprived of the Emoluments, which they derived from the benevolence of Their Sovereign, they hoped still to be considered His Servants —

After the Introduction of this outline by Lord Castlereagh in the House of Commons on the 5th of February 1819 the Subject was referred to a Committee upstairs for consideration — Respect to the King's Interests, & the consideration of His amiable & high Character, seem'd to have entitled such a question to have been submitted to the consideration of the Whole House, & to have refer'd its decision to Them — & not to the less

I am a positive * exception, to this general assertion — deliberate attentions, of such a Committee.

& where it was not discussed with that delicacy which was so desirable, & where unbecoming slights in tried occasionally, among the general arrangements under consideration — among other instances, it has been said, that a suggestion was thrown out, that as His Majesty did not now leave his Apartments in Windsor Castle, that there could be no occasion for Carriage & Horses for Him, & that therefore these were no longer necessary for the future Establishment at Windsor. This harsh proposition was overruled, & it was now fixed, that Five Carriage Horses should be allowed for His Majesty, & that Three Horses for his Attendant Equerry should be maintained.

Thus the King's Establishment of Horses, including those to be maintained during the actual Waiting of His Attendant Equerry, amounted to Eight in Number, & which altogether, were only two more Horses than I in former days had, & maintained for my duties, as one of His Majesty's Equerres —

The Report of this Committee was printed by Order of The House of Commons 17th February 1619.

In it, it was proposed to reduce the Sum of £100.000 annually set apart out of the Civil List for the expences of the King's Household to £50.000.

They approved of the discontinuance of the Salaries of certain of the Officers of State, who since His Majesty's Indisposition had been retained, but the Committee recommended that at the Head of the Establishment an Officer of the Rank of Groom of the Stole should be placed as they deemed it important to have a Person of Rank & of high Station connected with the King's Service, generally residing near His Person, & for the same reason it appeared expedient that one of the King's Equerries (The number of which in the Judgement of the Committee ought to be limited to Four) should be in daily & constant attendance at Windsor.

On this Report a Bill for the future regulation of His Majesty's Household at Windsor, & the care of His Royal Person passed & it was printed March 1st 1819.

By this Bill it was now fixed that the Annual Sum of £10,000 granted to the late Queen in consequence of Her Majesty having the care of the Person of King should now be granted to H. R. The Duke of York & Albany (as Custos) during His Majesty's Indisposition and likewise the powers vested in Her late Majesty in relation to the Application of His Majesty's Privy Purse or Revenues of the Duchy of Lancaster were at this time vested in the Duke of York - and new Pensions payable out of the Privy Purse were to be authorized by the Duke of York —

Thus was the question of the Reduction in His Majesty's Windsor Establishment, brought forward in Parl= iament by Lord Castlereagh, refer'd to an Up-Stairs Committee of the House of Commons, & from thence reported on in the House of Commons —

By this course Ministers got rid of their responsibility, & thus the Windsor Establi-= ment, tumbled out with no great tumult, in its precipitate fall, had not their helping hand to render it less severe, and the respect they were after <sup>desires of</sup> ~~the~~ showing to the decisions of the Committee, ingeniously shelter'd them from no inconsiderable portion of censure which their equality in measures affecting the Sovereign's Dignity & comfort had unquestionably much excited — among the middling Ranks, many who had with sours been imbibed the political sagacity of the times, for extensive reductions, took frequent opportunities of observing that heavily as the Nation felt the overpowering load of Taxes, still it was not yet so dejected as to grudge to their Venerable King all possible comforts in his afflicted day — neither did these harsh measures, maintain general approbation in the House of Parliament.

In the House of Lords The Earl of Sanderdale on the Report of the Reductions in the King's Windsor Establishment, observed that there were Faithful Servants included who had served His Majesty above Forty years — all for a long time, yet these had been deprived of their Situations, and he then pointedly remarked, that their Lordships would not act thus to Old Servants, & he added, that when a new Civil List should be formed difficulty might be experienced, because some might be unwilling to accept Situations from which in their Old Age they could hope for no support — He would ask was the Dignity of the Court supported by such conduct.

In the House of Commons, The Solicitor General Sir Robert Gifford, wished seriously to ask the House, if His Majesty was deprived of the power of rewarding his tried and faithful Servants, in the event of his recovery — That recovery might be distant, and He would admit it, but while the possibility of its existing occurred, the Legislature, could not honestly, nor consistently dispose of a Right, which if He had the use of His faculties, they would not think of touching or of questioning at that moment —

Mr. Hart Davies M. Member for Bristol affirmed that He was sure the loyal Inhabitants of the City of Bristol would undergo any sufferings rather than see their Venerable Sovereign in the last stage of life, deprived of the Splendor, belonging to His rank and Station — that for his own part He would most willingly have voted for the whole Estab-lishment, as originally proposed — He added that He had listened to the Noble Lord's (Lord Castlereagh's) first speech absolutely with disgust, & it was with deeps regret He had seen the Establishment reduced to so low a point, in the disgraceful way in which it had been done —

Mr. Cooper The Member for Gloucester remarked, that the Nation deeply sympathized in the State of its Afflicted Monarch, & hence had prepared every possible comfort & attentions which were either necessary or convenient to a Beloved & suffering Sovereign in his situation and that these were the effects of the gratitude of a loyal & affectionate People. Having themselves enjoy'd the benefit of His Majesty's good Government he owned, he was far from indifferent to the good care of His sacred Person, during the Years of his continued Malady. — He added that he had attended to Lord Castlereagh's speech in the opening of the business & he thought he had gone too far in reducing the King's Establishment at Windsor.

He wished His Majesty might be surrounded, by his Old & Faithful Servants, some of whom had served him above Thirty Years, and who ought now to be remembered for their services, until His Majesty should ascend to a better Kingdom.

Mr. Canning The Member for Liverpool animated in defence of the King's Private Property, which was blended in the general changes, which were now making in the Windsor Establishment, & the following Observations were reported from the Speech he made on this subject in the House of Commons in February 1719

George the Third gave up his Hereditary Revenue, a more particular delicacy therefore should be observed with regard to his Private Property — He asked no greater security for the protection of the Kings Property than the Laws afforded to the meanest Individual amongst his Subjects

The first <sup>who</sup> had reposed an Unlimited trust in his Peoples justice should not be the first to have his Private Property invaded with a rude & ungrateing hand —

It would be nothing to Him to have it said, that The King was blind & could not see — was deaf & could not hear, — was Invalided & unable personally to protect his Rights — He could not forget what He had been, in what He was not forget that the emphatically greatest years of England's & greatest Liberty had been pass'd, with George the Third as Sovereign of Great Britain — He could not forget what King George had done during the Storms & Dangers of the last 30 Years — the Firmness — the Character He exhibited, — nor how much his Example had tended to save & rescue the Country, from the designs of the unprincipled & the disaffected.

Internal & external danger had most assuredly vanished, or been put down during his glorious (tho' to Him Individually afflicting) reign, nor could the House without a dissolution of its duty, trench upon that Property, which was presented to Him by Law, & sanctioned by the holy compact that links & binds the frame of Society itself together. — He could not forget Venerable Quin as the Monarch was, that the blow which blasted, also consecrated Him — and that in the midst of his devotion in the gloom of his Affliction, He still was a protecting Shield to His People and a glorious example, worthy the imitation of the most remote posterity.

My last Duty in The King's Family.

Took place on Sunday Feb<sup>r</sup> 7th 1819, when I attended in Waiting as Groom of The King's Bed Chamber on the Windsor Establishment at Saint James's Palace with Lord St. Helens who on this day, was the Lord of His Majesty's Bedchamber in waiting and of His Windsor Establishment

The following Bulletin of the King's Health was then shown "His Majesty has enjoyed an uninterrupted state of good health, and has been very tranquil during the last month, but His Majesty's disorder remains unchanged."

This my concluding Duty! took place two days after Lord Castlereagh brought forward his Motion in the House of Commons, to reduce His Majesty's Establishment at Windsor & thus the New Parliament of 1818, at its Meeting in 1819 began their career by overhauling what the former Parliament had arranged for the comfort & dignity of the afflicted King & certainly with more respectful Sympathy for his unfortunate situation.

My Attendance on my last Official Duty at St. James's Palace, over, I from thence called at Lord Castlereagh's House in King Street St. James's Square, and in His Lordship's absence I left Him a letter and of which the following is a Copy.

My Lord

Leamore Place
Curzon Street
Feb<sup>ry</sup> 7th 1819.

The recent statement which has been brought forward by Your Lordship in the House of Commons respecting a Reduction in the Windsor Establishment has included me as one of the Grooms of the Bed Chamber to the King on that Establishment —

Before the final Arrangements of Parliament on this subject take place I am desirous of stating for Your Lordship's infor-mation & consideration my peculiar Situation in the King's Family and trusting it will appear, such, as may incline Your Lordship's kind attention to it —

In the Summer of 1781 I had the honor of being appointed Equerry to the King on His Majesty's own, & Unsolicited Nomination

In 1800 The King most graciously continued me in His Family, by appointing me Groom of His Bedchamber, which honorable situation I have held ever since to this day 193 and for the last years as Groom of the Bedchamber to the King on the Windsor Establishment, from its commencement and by the late Queens nomination.

On the change of my Appointment from that of Equerry to the situation of Groom of the Bedchamber to His Majesty, the King in his most gracious condescension, informed me, that tho' I was no longer His Equerry He desired to see me as usual at Windsor & that a room would always be ready for me at the Queens Lodge, whenever I pleased to occupy it — Since then I have constantly availed myself of this most flattering permission & I have thus continued my occasional attendance at Windsor ever since. — This flattering Situation in which His Majesty was thus pleased to place me is known to every branch of the Royal Family —

Under these circumstances as an Old and attached Servant to the King — the Oldest by far of any on the Windsor Establishment (The Groom of the Stole Excepted) I now most earnestly beg leave to state to your Lordships my anxious ambition to retain my Situation of Groom of the Bedchamber to the King and in which my Good & Belov'd Sovereign Himself placed me.

I ask no Enrolment

but that improbable as it may now appear, if it should please The Almighty to grant to our Afflicted King, the recollection of His Old & Faithful Servants, that I should be found amongst Them at my Post, ready as I have always been when called for by His Majesty.

With hopes most anxious I submit this my Case to your Lordships kind considerations and may I be permitted to add — to your protections.

My Lord,

with great respect

Your Faithful, and

Obedient Humble Servant

" Lord Castlereagh presents his Being myself no stranger to Ministers, this incorrect communication surprised me, in respect to its Address, but I was still more surpris'd at the very incorrect statement convey'd to me in Lord Castlereagh's Answer to my Letter, viz that His Lordship found that Lord Liverpool had already communicated with me on the subject of my Wishes -

In fact I never had such a communication as was here alluded to with Lord Liverpool -

After I had received this Answer from Lord Castlereagh, I wrote a letter to The Earl of Liverpool, and of which the following is a Copy.

I trust your Lordships will pardon me, for troubling you with the inclosed correspondence with Lord Castlereagh, & to which I am impelled, by my present very anxious feelings, on a subject so near my heart, through out a great portion of my Life, and which are now disturbed by my removal from the King's Family, & in which I was originally placed by The King Himself in the year 1781, and wherein, with pride & gratitude I have continued ever since, to this time.

that His Lordships might possibly not be so fully apprized of the circumstances which had induced me to write to Him on the 10th Inst: as He ought to be<sup>ing</sup> decided to write

Feb<sup>r</sup> 12th 1810

Mr. Grenville presents his Compl<sup>ts</sup> to The Earl of Liverpool, & having conceived since He did Himself the honor of writing to Him, that the possibility might exist, of His Lordships's not being clearly apprized of the circumstances, which had led to this Address from Him, He now begs leave to mention them briefly —

Previous to the subject of the proposed reductions in the Windsors Establishment having been brought forwards by Lord Castlereagh in the House of Commons, in imitation had been given, by one of the Lords of The Bedchamber on that Establishment, to one of His Majesty's Grooms of the Bedchamber on the same, of an intention to write to His Majesty's Ministers, to express their earnest request to be continued on their duty, but without Salaries. — This Intention was understood by The Person to whom it had been imparted as being a Joint Address from the Lords and Grooms of The King's Bedchamber on the Windsor Establishment, and to which the most willing consent was expressed by all —

When Lord Castlereagh brought forward the proposed Reductions in the Windsor Establishment to The House of Commons The Grooms of His Majesty's Bedchamber with surprise & disappointment found, that they had not been mentioned to His Majesty's Ministers as being equally anxious with The Lords of The Bedchamber to retain their Situations & without Salaries —

This New circumstance appearing Mr Greville considering the great length of his Service in The King's Family and likewise the peculiar and distinct situations He had. the honor of holding, during that time, felt He could not desert his Claims, on the same statements, as those of his Brother Grooms, & therefore He had decided to present his own case, & with it, praying the same Indulgencies as the Lords of the Bed chamber on the Windsor Establishment looked to — and without Salary —

on this decision Mr Greville took the liberty of writing to Lord Castlereagh on his own separate case, the letter of which He inclosed a Copy to Lord Liverpool and as Lord Castlereagh in his early answer to the same had informed Mr Greville that "He found Lord Liverpool had already communicated with Him (Mr G.) on the subject of His Wishes, Mr Greville deemed it expedient to trouble Lord Liverpool with his correspondence with Lord Castlereagh and whom only He had made any Application to from whom alone has He had any commu-
-ication

What steps the other Grooms of His Majesty's Bed chamber on the Windsor Establishment may have taken, these have not been in concert with Him, neither have they been reported to Him.

Mr. Greville trusts that this explanation will account for the Liberty of his late Address to Lord Liverpool, and that under it, this measure may be accounted for to his Lordship's satisfaction. He owns He feels anxiously & most painfully the intended removal of so old & attached a Servant in The King's family as He has been, & where his long and faithful Services have, through His Majesty's gracious favor and confidence, been extended, beyond the mere duties of a Court Attendance.

NB.

To neither of these Letters wrote to The Earl of Liverpool by Mr. Greville, has any answer been given, nor has any communication whatever been received from His Lordship on the subject of their contents, in any direction.

On the 28th of April 1819 I received a Letter from His Royal Highness the Duke of York, dated from Windsor Castle, & of which the following is a Copy.

Copy.

Sir

Windsor Castle
28 April 1819.

I have to apologise to You for having since the Royal Assent was given to the Act passed this Session for the care of His Majesty's Person omitted addressing you upon the subject of your very handsome offer to continue your Services as a Groom of the Bedchamber, notwithstanding the Reduction which Parliament had thought fit to make in the provision for the Windsor Establishment, where by the situation of so many of The King's Old & Faithful Servants are discontinued, but the novel circumstances under which I was placed together with the Accident which I experienced soon after, will I trust account to you for the delay*. At all events I must request that you will be assured, that it has not arisen from any absence of a due sense of the Zeal, Attach=ment and Liberality, which has been so strongly manifested in your offer and which I am the more desirous of paying the tribute they deserve as I am persuaded that The King, if it should please God, to restore Him to a state of in which He could be informed of this further proof of your devotion & affection would not only feel it deeply & appreciate its Value, but would be anxious to acknowledge it —

Feeling as I do on this Occasion I must earnestly regret being under the necessity of declining your offer from a conviction that it would not be compatible with the dignity of the King, nor reconcil=able to the principle, which it is so desirable to maintain to sanction the admission of His Royal Highness had lately the misfortune to break his Arm at Windsor Castle. 103 gratuitous Services to The Crown - and The Prince Regent to whom I have not failed to submit your Offer & my sentiments on the Subject has been pleased to concur both in the acknowledgement of the merit of your proceeding and in the propriety of the grounds, on which I have felt it incumbent upon me to decline your Attendance.

Sir yours

On the 1st of May <sup>1819</sup> I wrote an answer to the foregoing very flattering letter from His Royal Highness the Duke of York - and of which, the following is a Copy

Of My Letter to His Royal Highness
The Duke of York
In answer to the foregoing Letter from Him to Me

Sir

Permit Me with all due respect and gratitude to thank Your Royal Highness for your condescension & kindness so flatteringly marked towards me by your very gracious communication from Windsor Castle, dated April 26th 1689 which I received the 30th Instant

I will own to you Sir, as I well know the innate goodness of your heart, that the very kind expressions, you have been thus pleased to convey to me, and which in your goodness Your Royal Highness has introduced with so much alleviating warmth by connecting them with His Majesty's name, have been a welcome balm to the mind of an Old & Faithful Servant of Your Royal Father, and of my most valued & afflicted King, the Oldest by far of any Servant of His Majesty on the late Windsor Establishment, the Groom of the Stole excepted —

I am anxious also by this opportunity to Express to Your Royal Highness, how flattering & how welcome to my feelings has been that intimation of His Royal Highness the Prince Regent's approbation of my proceedings in this instance, and which You have been pleased to convey to Me with so much kindness

On a privation so near my Heart I have been unable to suppress the impressions of severe disappointment, which began from the first moment when my removal from the Kings Family was made known to me and in which honorable situation His Majesty himself had originally placed me in the Year 1761, & in which with pride and gratitude I had been permitted to continue during a period of nearly 38 Years —

I do not presume to complain — and to the decisions of Parliament I have always been disposed to mark respect —

Pardon me Sir for saying thus much, when writing to your Royal Highness, but I am assured of your Indulgence, when you know, how much my feelings have been disturbed and that I now write from my couch, to which I have been confined for many weeks.

Permit me Sir to join in the numerous regrets which your Royal Highness's late accident has every where excited and to be allowed to add my hopes & wishes, to those of all my Family, that your complete recovery may be rapid, & without interruption

Sir

Your Royal Highness's much Obliged and Very Grateful Humble Servant

This Melancholy Event was announced by The Duke of York in the following letter from Him to The Lord Viscount Sidmouth, One of His late Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State

My Lords Windsor Jan<sup>ry</sup> 19th 1820.

It becomes my painful duty to acquaint Your Lordship, that it has pleased Almighty God, to take unto Himself, My Beloved Father, and Our most gracious and Excellent Sovereign.

He expired at 35 Minutes past Eight o'Clock—P.M.
I am, My Lords, Ever Yours most Sincerely

Frederick.

The Right Hon<sup>ble</sup>
The Lord Visct. Sidmouth.

This Letter from The Duke of York to Lord Sidmouth, inclosed the following certificate of all His Majesty's Physicians in Attendance at Windsor Castle on this melancholy Occasion.

General Cartwright Esquery to The King and at this time in waiting at Windsor Castle, was immediately sent off Express by N. D. H. The Duke of York with a Letter to The Prince Regent at Carlton House announcing the death of His Royal Father King George the 3<sup>d</sup>.

The Prince Regent at the time of General Cartwright's arrival at Carlton House was in Bed, & then indisposed, but The General was by instant command ushered into The Prince's Bed room, where He deliver'd to H. M. the Letter with which He had been charged from Windsor Castle by The Duke of York —

Thus My Friend General Cartwright was the Bearer of that dispatch, which in the first Instance, announced to The Prince Regent that by the Demise of His Royal Father His Royal Highness had become King, of these Realms —

General Cartwright was without delay dispatched from Carlton House, back to Windsor Castle, with a Letter from the King to His Brother the Duke of York —

The Lord Mayor of London immediately on receiving the Official Account of the late King's death from S. Sidmouth as Secretary of State, extended the detail of the melancholy event throughout the Metropolis by the deep Notes of the Great Bell of St. Paul, which He ordered to be tolled —

After these communications, steps were taken without loss of time to forward the necessary arrangements preparatory to the ensuing Funeral of our late much lamented King.

No Embalming took place on this occasion, but the Corpse was carefully wrapped up in a Cere Cloth - a simpler and perhaps a more lasting preservative than the former process, when well performed.

Among the accustomed ceremonies on such mournful occasions, that of setting up with the Royal Corpse is an invariable one. In the usual allotted attendance called for on the King's demise, The Lords & Grooms of the late King's Bed chamber on the Windsor Establishment would have formed a part - had these still remained to this time - but wanting these, on this occasion, an awkward change in this selection, was adopted through necessity. The late harsh reduction, of the Good Old King's Windsor Establishment, had removed from His Household the Lords & Grooms of his Bed chamber, & which duties were composed of His Majesty's own Old & Faithful Servants, and in consequence, Attendance was now called on, & made up from the list of the Lords & Grooms of His Majesty, who previously, had been attendant only on the Prince Regent, in conformity therefore to this Order Officers of this separate Household & who had never before, been called for on Windsor Duty, were now summoned to Windsor Castle, to sit up with The Royal Corpoe, in alternate reliefs day & night until the Funeral Ceremony should take place.

In consequence of this new Arrangement The Marquis of Headfort Lord of the Bedchamber, & Gen<sup>l</sup> Sir Hilgrove Sumner Groom of the Bedchamber from the Prince Regent's Establishment, took the first turn of this altered duty and in which there were relieved by Vis<sup>t</sup> Lake & Sir J. Mordaunt and so on in progressive turn throughout their lists.

In this manner have I, as Groom of the Bedchamber to my beloved Sovereign King George the Third been driven from my Post of Honor at His Funeral, by those rough retrenchments which Parliament has not hesitated to decree in the late good Old King's Household Establis=ment at Windsor, & whereby honorable Appoint=ments were abolished, & the long Services of His Old & attached Servants, against whom demerits could not be imputed, were closed, contrary to Justice & fair Proceeding — and hence, our Venerable departed King had not the faithful Servants of his own selected Establishment, to attend his remains to the Tomb — but their duties were then disgrace-=fully transferred to those, who hitherto had formed a part of the Prince Regent's Household Establishment at Carlton House — and who had never until now done duty in the late King's Family, or near his Person —

The King's Interment.

The Interment of His late Majesty King George the Third took place at the Chapel Royal of St. George at Windsor on Wednesday Evening the 16th of February 1820.

The Remains of His late Majesty lay in State in the Royal Apartments in Windsor Castle from Tuesday Morning the 15th of February 1820 at 9 o'Clock until the time of his Interment on Wednesday Evening February 16th 1820—The Public were admitted from 10 o'Clock to 4 on Tuesday, & from 10 o'Clock to 3 on Wednesday—

Those who assisted at the Solemnity, assembled in S<sup>t</sup> George's Hall at 7 o'Clock, and the remains of His late Majesty, were removed from the Royal Apartments to S<sup>t</sup> George's Chapel in procession at 9 o'Clock—

The Royal Body was received at the entrance into S<sup>t</sup> George's Chapel by the Dean & Canons, attended by the Choir.

The Procession was flanked by the Gren-adiers of the Guards & it moved on to the Choir, where the Coffin was placed on a Platform— The Royal Crown of Hanover and the Imperial Crown of the United Kingdom were laid on it, with their Cushions—

The Duke of York Chief Mourner sat at the head of the Corpse & the Princes of the Blood, near Him—

The Coffin Plate had this Inscription. — Depositorium Serenissimi, Potentissimi & Excellentissimi Monarchi. — Georgii Tertii — Dei Gratia Britanniarum Regis — Fidei Defensoris Regis Hannoverae & Brunsvici & Luneburgi Ducis Obijt xxix die Januarii Annoq; Domini M. DCC.
M. Lxxxiij. Regniq; sui Lx.

After the Funeral Service and the Anthem — The Coffin lowered gradually to the Royal Vault and disappeared from Sight!

Copy of My Answer to the foregoing Letter from The Earl of Winchilsea

My Lord

19 Curzon Street
May Fair Feb 72th 1820-

I have this Morning received Your Lordship's Letter of Yesterday's date, acquainting Me by The King's Commands, that His Majesty has been graciously pleased to grant Me the permission of wearing the Windsor Uniform, as heretofore

This gracious permission from The King, is the more flattering, as it comes to Me Unsolicited, & cannot be but most gratefully acknowledged by an Old & Attached Servant to His Royal Father, in whose Family I had the honor of being near 38 Years, & to which I was appointed by The King Himself. <sup>I have the honor to be</sup> My Lord Your Faithful Servant
The Earl of Winchilsea. Sign'd Rob<sup>t</sup> J. Greville.

On the Fifth of February 1819
 The Lord Viscount Castlereagh Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, brought forward in The House of Commons his Motion for the reduction of The King's Windsor Establishment.

The Report of the Affairs Committee of the House of Commons on this Motion, was printed Feb<sup>r</sup> 17th 1819 — And the Bill, approved in The House, was passed, & was printed March 1st 1819.

The King died Jan<sup>r</sup> 19th 1820 & was interred Feb<sup>r</sup> 7th 1820

Thus — Short & imperceptible nearly has been the relief to the State, by Savings which have been so harshly obtained, as these have been, from Reductions in the late King's Windsor Estab-lishment — but — Taunting and deep have been the regrets of The King's Old & Faithful Servants, who thereby have been so unfeelingly & so unjustly driven from their fair Situations, in His Family.
