

Brighton.
Friday Morning.

Dear Barton,
I am to acknowledge yours of yesterday and its enclosure, which I altogether approve: considering you as a sincere and firm friend your letter has given me great pleasure, and indeed the more so because explaining myself to Mr. B. Blomfield who is gone from the Dept to the Cabinet on this message the Prince has expressed his entire approbation to all my wishes: I must now wait events and shall write as they occur: I hope for her own sake as well as mine that the Princess of Denmark is not a fool and will therefore behave towards my daugh-ters as she ought: my affection and regard cannot alter and unless I was really persua-ded I was also surin my children I would not marry: if you hear any thing write me now and I will remain,

Yours sincerely

J. S. C.
