Dear Daniell,

The post and contrary wind has as you know being from England and this interruption is likely to last more or less for the next six weeks: my mind of course turns to what may be pro-ceeding at home and Mr. Dan and Beeby are frequently before my eyes: in this state of Recantation I am -very dissatisfied I have been turning my views to my former and having really an opinion of the he--nery abilities and the private parts takes in the -concern I want to have his opinions as to the ad-vantage or disadvantage of making the whole a -form of the paper portable: I know the necessity -of an and can and want his determination: of course some ground must be requisite to carry this into effect: the most material objection is how to procure timber for the sheep: let me have after a full consideration Cates's opinion: in the mean time every thing will be pursued on the plan laid down when I left Lon.

-land and of course every sheet of wood that the whole be made a fence for all the ground intended to be looked up most in regular rotation: I must hope the about hills will be nearly if not entirely cut out this year and the whole of the willow plantation -ons both in the Park and Farm completed this year
-er: second thoughts are best: the available ground must be continued as also the willow plantation in the Farm must be destroyed and great advantage will be derived from them: tell Cates therefore my mind is fixed on this point: the fence cut and another the farm and thorow under Officers must be kept in repair and ne alterations made unless ordered by me: You must not forget to plant the millon mumps in Jans' meadow next to the Maidenhead stile: I have no more to write on the Park and Farm being satisfied with your over looking Colphick and Cotes in whom I think I can confide: but the kitchen garden requires much attention and I shall be curious to learn what has occurred between you and Baxter and with Paddy and Allen: figures are easily mistaken: but I read that the gardenes require your care more next season to put on Peppercorn in it.

shall not be: Dec: 21: This morning has your 2: 20 and so many more that it has taken me three hours to read my letters: I will reply next post: in the meantime be very kind and your own ever, I remain Yours sincerely
G. Pitt Rivers
