My Dearest Brother

I am very happy to find that you have recovered already so much the use of your arm as to be enabled to write so many Letters. I had never before thank God been separated from those that I love while they were under any suffering; & therefore had never experienced the dreadful sensation of uncertainty how my Friends and Relations during their illness's went on, which I am sure made us all more apprehensive than if that accident had happened in England and that we had received daily accounts of your health.

I must now return you a thousand thanks for your letter and your present. I was very much delighted in hearing from you again, and in particular at the end of your letter. Je vous aime comme moi-même. I can with the greatest ^{return} vivacity you the compliment for I do really believe that ~~very~~ small indeed is the number of those that love you better than I do. I quite cherish your letter which I take as well as of the first the greatest care. It arrived the 22 of September & that very Evening I wrote some of the flowers.

Sophia desired me to give ~~you~~ her love to you and to mention her particularly to you all my Brothers and Sisters join in love to you.

I am my Dearest William

Your ever affectionate

Friend and Sister

Charlotte A.M.
